The Faculty will order, from time to time, such examinations in the works named above, as they may judge expedient, and necessary to secure thoroughness.

The above Courses of Instruction include the following subjects:

1. THE LATIN LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

The studies of this department include the translation of selections from the Classic Latin Historians, Orators, and Poets, accompanied by progressive exercises in Analysis and Composition, and a course of reading in the History, Literature and Antiquities of Rome. The subjects of recitation are the following: Selections from Cæsar, Virgil, Cicero's Orations, Livy, Horace, Tacitus' Germania and Agricola, and Cicero de Oratore, accompanied by such exercises in Latin Prose Composition as the Professor may direct. Students of the Scientific Course are required to read no farther than through Cicero's Orations.

Bullion's Grammar, Cæsar and Cicero, Cooper's Virgil, Lincoln's Livy, Zumpt's Horace, and Dillaway's Tacitus and De Oratore, and Arnold's Prose Composition, are text books in this department.

2. THE GREEK LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

The studies of this department include the translations of selections from the Classic Greek Historians, Orators, Philosophers, Critics and Poets, accompanied by progressive exercises in Analysis and Composition, and a course of reading in the History, Literature and Antiquities of Greece. The subjects of recitation are the following: Selections from the Anabasis and Cyropædia of Xenophon, the Histories of Herodotus and Thucydides, the Orations of Isocrates, Lysias and Demosthenes, the Memorabilia of Xenophon, the Crito and Phaedon of Plato, the philosophical and critical works of Aristotle, the critical works of Dyonisius Halicarnassus and Loginus and the tragedies of Sophocles or Euripides, accompanied by such exercises in Arnold's Greek Prose Composition as the Professor may direct. The prose selections read in this course are contained in the Graeca Majora, Vol. 1. Such editions of the Tragedies as the Professor may direct will be read.

3. THE HEBREW LANGUAGE.

The study of Hebrew will be commenced by the Seniors at the opening of the year and continued, with five recitations weekly, until the close of the Senior year. Such a knowledge of the language will be thus acquired as will enable the student to read intelligently the Hebrew Scriptures, and qualify him for reciting with advanced classes in any Theological Seminary. Tregelles' Grammar, Stewart's Chrestomathy and the Hebrew Bible are used as text books.

4. THE FRENCH AND GERMAN LANGUAGES.

Scientific students may study French or German instead of Latin, and students of the Classical Course may study German or French instead of Hebrew. Any student is at liberty to take either language in addition to the subjects of the regular courses. The following are the text books: French—Fasquelles' Method and Colloquial Reader, Telemaque, L'Histoire de Charles XII, Racine's Tragedies, and Bossuet's Orations. German—Woodbury's New Method, Woodbury's Elementary and Woodbury's Eclectic Readers, Schiller's Thirty Years' War, and Goethe's Faust.

5. THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

Exercises in composition are required regularly from the beginning to the end all the courses. The formal study of the subjects included under this head begins at the opening of the College course and continues until the close of the second term of the Junior Year. Fowler's Treatise on the English Language, and March's Method of Philological Study of the English Language, Quackenboss' Composition and Rhetoric, and Day's Art of Rhetoric will be used as text books. The students are recommended to read carefully the History of English Literature, and to examine critically its great master pieces. The recitations will be accompanied by lectures and frequent drill exercises. The members of every class are required to perform in a public exhibition once a year. By this method of instruction and drill, the Professor aims to familiarize the student with our native tongue and to train him to use it with facility, accuracy, elegance and power.

6. HISTORY.

The course of Historical Reading includes the History of Rome, Greece, France, England and the United States, accompanied by the History of the Church and Guizot's History of Civilization. No recitations will be required in these subjects, but as far as the Faculty may judge expedient, each class will be examined in the prescribed text books, and every effort will be made to familiarize the student with the subjects of the course.

7. MATHEMATICS.

The Mathematical studies of both the Classical and Scientific Courses include the following subjects: Algebra; Geometry; Trigonometry, Plane and Spherical; Mensuration, Surveying, Navigation, Analytical Geometry and Calculus. The Select Course includes only Algebra, Geometry, Mensuration and Plane Trigonometry. These studies are pursued as follows:

I. Classical Course.—1. Sub-Freshman Class—Algebra. 2. Freshman Class—Geometry and Plane Trigonometry and Mensuration. 3. Sophomore Class—Spherical Trigonometry, Surveying, Navigation, Analytical Geometry and Calculus. One recitation daily.

II. Scientific Course.—1. Sub-Junior Class—Algebra. 2. Junior Class—Geometry, and Plane Trigonometry and Mensuration. 3. Senior Class—Spherical Trigonometry, Surveying, Navigation, Analytical Geometry and Calculus. One recitation daily.

III. Select Course.—Algebra, Geometry, Plane Trigonometry and Mensuration.

Loomis' Mathematical works are used as text books.

8. NATURAL SCIENCE.

The course of Natural Science is indicated clearly in the scheme of studies. The recitations in this department will be supplemented with weekly lectures. The text books are Snell's Olmstead, Hitchcock's Physiology, Gray's Botany, Olmstead's and Burritt's Astronomy, Youman's Chemistry and Dana's Geology.

The Select Course in Natural Science includes Natural Philosophy, Astronomy, Chemistry, Physiology and Botany. Text books suitable to the capacity of the student will be used.

The apparatus and cabinet in possession of the College enable the Professor of Natural Science to illustrate with a good degree of fullness the subjects of his department.

9. PHILOSOPHY.

The Juniors spend the third term on Political Economy and the Constitution of the United States, one recitation daily. The Seniors study Mental Philosophy the first term, and Logic, Moral Philosophy, Butler's Analogy and the Evidences of Christianity the remainder of the year. Hamilton's Metaphysics, Wayland's Moral Philosophy or McCosh's Method, and Wayland's Political Economy, Story on the Constitution, and Butler's Analogy are used as text books. The text books are supplemented by lectures and discussions.

In this department it is the aim of the Professor to develope the powers of the mind, and aid the student in forming correct principles on the various subjects of the course.

10. RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

All the students are required to attend the worship of God daily, and to recite a Bible lesson weekly. Students of the Classical and Scientific courses will study select portions of the Old Testament and all the New. The Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors will read and recite the Epistles and Revelations in Greek. In addition to the usual text books on Moral Philosophy, and the Analogy of Natural and Revealed Religion, the Seniors will take a brief course in Theology, using the "Confession of Faith" as a text book. This course will be especially valuable to those whose professional studies will not lead them to a careful examination of the facts and principles of the Word of God. A course of reading adapted to promote vital godliness is recommended to all the students. The President will give frequent lectures on manners, morals and religious duties, intended to train the students to the life of Christian ladies and gentlemen. All who do not reside with their parents are required to attend public worship and Bible class, in some church on the Sabbath. Students' prayer meetings have been organized; they are well attended. The Faculty regard it as an important part of their work to labor for the moral and spiritual welfare of the students.

The department of Music, under the charge of LEVI B. DAVIS, A. M., affords facilities for the study of that valuable art, seldom, if ever, found in an institution of this character. A society of the students, called the "Cecilia Society," having for its object the study and practice of classical music, is in successful operation.

Students desiring to study Book-keeping, or take lessons in Penmanship, are furnished with rare opportunities at reasonable rates in connection with "Young's Mercantile College," which though recently organized has already achieved an enviable reputation.

Instruction will be given, to such as desire it, in the theory and practice of Teaching.

The degree of "A. B." is conferred on students who complete and pass satisfactory examinations in the Classical Course.

The degree of "B. S." is conferred on students who complete and pass satisfactory examinations in the Scientific Course.

An appropriate certificate will be given to students who complete and pass satisfactory examinations in the Select Course.

Ladies and gentlemen are admitted, on the same footing, to all the courses.

The first year course has been arranged for the benefit of young ladies and gentlemen whose early education has been neglected. Ordinarily these subjects should be mastered in the common school. Students should come prepared to enter the Senior class of this department.

Pinneo's and Clark's English Grammars, Bullions' Latin Grammar and Reader, Arnold's Latin Exercises, Stoddard's Mental Arithmetic, and Ray's Arithmetics and Elementary Algebra are used as text books.

A course of weekly lectures on habits of study, formation of character, and similar subjects, is delivered by the President of the College to the students of this department.

Additional Information.

LIBRARY.

The Library contains over one thousand volumes, including five hundred dollars worth of new books, selected expressly for the College. It is accessible to all the students.

APPARATUS.

An extensive Philosophical and Chemical Apparatus has been procured and is now in successful use. It affords the means for a satisfactory illustration of the most important doctrines in the various departments of Astronomy, Natural Philosophy and Chemistry.

CABINET.

The College has purchased of James Barnett, D. D., Missionary at Cairo, Egypt, an Oriental Cabinet, the result of seventeen years' labor in Palestine and Egypt, containing ancient coins, geological specimens from Sinai and regions about the Red Sea, and many articles of interest to students of Bible history. The College has also procured from the State a Geological Cabinet, consisting of duplicate specimens from the State Geological Cabinet at Springfield, which has been arranged on appropriate cases, and furnishes the students an opportunity of studying the geological structure of our own State.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are four Literary Societies in the College—the Philadelphian, Eccritean, Amateurs des Belles Lettres and Aletheorian—These are all on a good footing, and afford to their members respectively the opportunity of improvement in the branches of learning for the promotion of which they are established.

GOVERNMENT.

It is the aim of the Faculty to secure good order and diligence in study, by the force of moral and religious principles, rather than by direct exercise of authority. Those who persist in neglecting their studies, or in pursuing disorderly courses, or in exerting an evil influence, will not be permitted to remain in connection with the College.

EXPENSES.

Tuition in the Academy is $8.00 for the first term, and $6.00 for each of the remaining terms. In the College, $12.00 for the first term, and $9.00 for each of the remaining terms.
